Morrisby Careers has extensive information and tools to match careers, subject choices, apprenticeships and higher education for every individual. It can form the foundation to build your careers education, guidance and PSHE programmes upon.

Careers library

Morrisby Careers provides your digital careers library. With rich information on careers, subject choices, apprenticeships and higher education. Each career contains detailed routes to entry, qualification requirements and labour market information. The additional resources area makes it easy to signpost local and national information sources.

Student self-discovery

Powerful but simple assessments match interests and preferences to specific careers and courses. The student's unique profile is analysed against more than 600 careers and the closest matches are highlighted for further investigation. They can be 'favourited' by the student or replaced with closer matches.

Key decision points

Provide support throughout the student's school career with particular focus at the key decision points such as choosing options at age 14 and 16. The system encourages them to explore a wide range of courses and careers and play "what if" by adjusting expected qualifications up or down.

Action planning

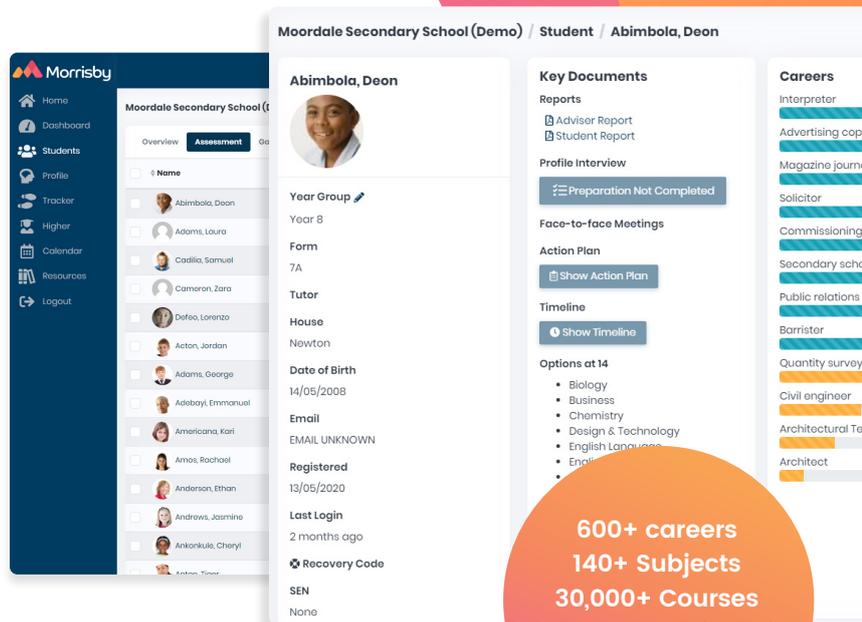

Morrisby Careers helps students organise their progression through school with the built-in action planning and face-to-face meeting tools. This makes it easy for students to take control of their own careers journey while also making it simple for tutors to engage in the wider careers conversation and provide specific support at appropriate times.

Management system

Data and dashboards

Careers leaders and teachers are well supported with a management system that is flexible and powerful. With multiple dashboards to interrogate data and a student database that makes it easy to see progress by vulnerable groups, classes and cohorts to name a few. Key data can also be downloaded for further interrogation.

The student page groups all of the key information and progress together so you can see at a glance how an individual is progressing. This can allow tutors and pastoral staff to get the full picture and make it easy to prepare for individual conversations and guidance with built-in face-to-face meeting tools and student action planning.
